

A beer inspired by the old Danish "Godtøl" as it was brewed on farms before-brewing became industrialized. Godtøl was brewed for special occasions to be extra strong and nurturing from excessive use of raw materials.

The recipe was originally developed in collaboration with the late Michael Jackson (beer and whiskey expert - not the musician) for his Rare Beer Club.

Available sometimes in 500 ml bottles and 30 liter one-way kegs.

Brewed from Maris Otter pale ale malt, chokolatemalt, ryemalt, oats and English and German hops as well as water.

30 IBU, OG: 1085, ABV: 8

Nordic Rye is brewed by "Beer Here" a Danish brewery project started by award winning brewer Christian Skovdal Andersen. The mission of Beer Here is to brew flavourful beer bending known conventions and styles.

See more at www.beerhere.dk
(The website is unfortunately only in Danish for now)